

POSITION AVAILABLE

Occupational Safety and Health Assistant

The International Association of Fire Fighters, an International Labor Union, seeks an Occupational Safety and Health Assistant with technical research and writing background. Individual will be responsible for providing technical assistance to union affiliates in occupational health and safety issues, developing and coordinating of federal occupational safety and health grants; and traveling occasionally to fulfill grant needs. Individual must have excellent oral and written communication skills; ability to analyze technical information and draft written reports and correspondence; and, knowledge of fire protection, administration and OSHA standards. Must be well organized and a self-starter with working knowledge of PC based database management and word processing skills. Minimum of a bachelors degree in Occupational Health, Environmental Sciences, Public Health or Applicable Sciences, and four years experience in the field and background and/or knowledge of the public emergency response services. Salary starting at $64,000 (increasing to $77,000+ within two years) with excellent employer paid fringe benefits package. Send resume and letter to:

International Association of Fire Fighters, AFL-CIO
Human Resources Department
1750 New York Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20006
jobs@iaff.org